Vodafone Discover Program is a journey for talented graduates that allows you to experience a cross-functional development path and fulfill a long-term role with permanent contract.

The first part of this program includes a 4-month period of job rotations, divided into 2 assignments:

1. During the 1st month you will explore our customer touchpoints and digital channels, to better understand the digital market and our company culture;

2. The next 3 months will allow you to collaborate with different department. This cross-functional experience will give you the chance to challenge yourself, grow your skillset and develop a broader view of the field of your interest.

Who are we looking for?

We are looking for tech-addicted geeks, someone who embraces new technologies and are continuously learning. To join our Discover Graduate Program you must have recently graduated in Computer Engineering, Computer Science or related courses (within the last 6 months or planning to graduate by this autumn). Our qualifying requirements are:

- Top Academic performances
- Proficiency in English
- International Experience
- Previous 6 months work experience is a plus

You will also have to demonstrate:
• Lateral thinking skills and analytic mind-set
• Intellectual curiosity and hunger for development
• Entrepreneurship, digital attitude, passion for technology

What to expect

As Discover IT you will work multi-disciplinarily with coders, designers and analysts to create prototypes, design and build modules and solutions in an iterative agile cycles. You will deliver great quality software into services in order to guarantee a great experience to our customers around the world. You will have the chance to join our Artificial Intelligence team, or dealing with Robotic Process Automation topics; you will help design & deploy our MyVodafone App or contribute in the development of TOBi – our digital assistant. As we move more towards becoming a fully digital company, software engineering is becoming a critical skill in driving us forwards, whether we are buying in quality solutions, building our own unique customer journeys or inventing the future of communications.

What’s in for you?

Working for an industry leading company that spans across different countries around the world, you will have the chance to invest in your personal development, experiment and innovate at pace. In Vodafone, you will find a fresh and dynamic environment with flexible working hours and top tech equipment. You will be part of a global community of graduates and will have the chance to confront yourself with top experts as well as participating to coaching & training classes. You will have business exposure and accountability from day one and you will work to deliver world-leading technology to empower both Enterprise and Consumer customers around the world to build our digital future. In addition, at Vodafone Village you will find smart spaces equipped with foosball, ping-pong and video games and you will enjoy your place even more hosting the main Italian digital events and meet-ups.

Type of contract: Permanent contract with competitive salary.
Start date: September 2019

What are you waiting for? Let’s apply!